ITCHING ECZEMA

In July, 1883, I began to break out with Eczema on my head, legs and arms, and began treatment with local doctors, but did not get much relief. They said the disease had become chronic. I then quit them and tried various ointments and soaps for another two years, but as soon as cold weather came I was as bad off as ever, so I finally decided to let medicine alone, and for twelve or thirteen years did nothing towards curing the Eczema, except bathing. This seemed to do about as much good as anything I had tried.

During the time I lost about one-half of my hair. I began S. S. S. doubtful of a cure, because the disease had run so long, but soon discovered your medicine was doing me good, and continued to take it. I used seven bottles, when I was completely cured, not having a single spot on my body, which before was almost completely covered.

The head, feet and hands are usually the parts affected, though the disease appears on other parts of the body. While external applications allay the itching and burning temporarily, it is the acids thrown off by the blood that cause the irritation and eruptions upon the skin. The acids must be neutralized and the system cleansed of all humors and poisons before the cure is permanent.

CORBETT IS LOSER

Denver Boy Falls Before Battling Nelson in Ninth Round.

FIGHT PROVES A VICIOUS ONE

Odds of 10 to 8 at Ringside, With Dane as the Favorite—Monster Crowd.

San Francisco, March 1.—Battling Nelson repeated on Young Corbett last night, stopping his opponent in much the same fashion as in their previous fight. The battle was fast and furious, and the big crowd that thronged the pavilion to its doors was on its feet with excitement almost from the first tap of the gong.

Nelson won by a knockout in the ninth round. He took the lead after the fourth and wore Corbett down by hard punches to the jaw and body.

The boys fought before one of the largest houses that ever greeted a pair of boxers in this city. The rivalry between the contestants proved such an attraction that the arena was packed to even a greater extent than when they met last November.

Nelson Betting Favorite.

For the first time since he came to the coast Nelson went into the ring a favorite. Odds of 10 to 8 were offered on his chances, and the price proved so tempting to Corbett's admirers that thousands of dollars were staked on the result.

Both boxers made the weight of 130 pounds at 6 o'clock required by the articles, and both were in the pink of condition. They shaped up slightly behind schedule time.

Corbett, who has time and again claimed lack of condition as the cause of his recent defeat at the hands of Nelson, and realizing that defeat last night would send him into pugilistic obscurity, had trained faithfully and unremittently for the past two months, and he himself last night announced that he was in absolutely perfect shape.

Fit for Battle of Life.

His statement was easily corroborated as he stripped for action, as it was palpable that the man who twice lowered the colors of McGovern was fit to fight the battle of his life. He looked fresh, strong and confident, and prior to the battle expressed himself as hopeful of an early and easy victory.

Nelson likewise had devoted himself to a drastic course in training, but, unlike Corbett, has experienced much difficulty in making the specified weight. He was compelled to continue his conditioning process until the day of the fight, while Corbett spent the day in rest.

First Blood for Dane.

Round 1—10:18 p. m.—Time called. Corbett danced about, looking confident, while Nelson wore a more serious air. Corbett continued to dance for fully a minute, trying to draw Nelson on. Then he quickly shot a straight right over the heart and missed a similar attempt. Two lefts for the head went wild and a straight right landed high on Nelson's chest. More sparring followed, and Nelson planted left to the stomach and Corbett drove his left hand to the face, bringing a thin stream of blood from Nelson's mouth. Corbett put two lefts to the body and then drove a haymaking right to the body. Nelson then sent Corbett back to the ropes with straight right to the forehead. Then they mixed it fiercely, Corbett landing a vicious left to the face and a right high on the body as the bell clanged. The advantage was with Corbett. Nelson throughout acted mostly on the defensive.

Corbett Mixes Fiercely.

Round 2—Nelson crouched low. Corbett waded in, mixing it fiercely, but did not land. They kept at close quarters, Corbett landing short-arm rights and lefts to the jaw. He tried his right haymaker, but ran into a stiff right to the jaw. They fought desperately at close quarters, Corbett resting his head on Nelson's chest, but failed to worry Nelson. The crowd yelled "break," and the referee separated them. Again they went to close quarters, Nelson up-percuting Corbett on the jaw with right. Corbett then planted a fierce right to the body, but Nelson kept after the Denver boy and forced him to cover. Corbett jabbed two lefts to the face, and just previous to the gong swung a hard right to the face. It was a desperate round, both men roughing it considerably, with Nelson the chief offender. Corbett had a shade.

Two Heart Punches for Denverite.

Round 3—They sparred carefully. Finally Corbett bored in, trying left for the face, but was blocked. They roughed it, Nelson butting Corbett. Nelson swung right and left to the body as Corbett was trying to work to a clinch. Nelson then planted his left hand on Corbett's face and Corbett's right went wild. Nelson put in two heart punches and a left swing sent Corbett to his knees. He was up quickly and shot his left to Nelson's face and a hard right to the body. Corbett then staggered Nelson with right and left swing to the jaw. Two more swings went wild, and the injunction came from Corbett's corner, "Steady." Corbett's swings at the close of the round were wild, and Nelson, finding an opening, shot in two lefts to the body. The round closed with honors in favor of Corbett.

Fight Grows Vicious.

Round 4—Corbett waded right in and they fought in a mix to the center of the ring. Separating, Corbett sent

FIVE EXAMINED FOR STATE COMMISSIONS

Officers of 6th Regiment Companies Before the Board Here Yesterday.

An examination was held here at the Armory yesterday to determine the fitness for the commissioning by the state of the officers elected recently by companies of the 6th regiment. The examination was conducted by Lieut. Col. W. T. Channon, of this city, and Capt. A. T. Moore, of Dixon. The candidates were Capt. C. G. Davis, Company B, Geneseo; Lieut. R. G. Williams and Lieut. M. A. Saunders, Company K, Kewanee; Lieut. John T. Irwin and Lieut. John E. Dornblaser, Company G, Dixon. Col. Ed Kittelsen, regimental commander, attended as a visitor.

left to the head and a right to the ribs. Then they exchanged light lefts to the face, and Corbett, backing away, swung left lightly to the face. Another clinch followed, the crowd yelling "break." Both missed lefts and Corbett landed two rights and a left to the jaw. They fought viciously in a mix-up, both landing telling blows. Corbett broke it up with a vicious right to the body, but Nelson kept after him, roughing it in clinches. The pace was terrific at this stage, both men showing the effects of it. As the bell rang Corbett planted a fearful left flush on the jaw that sent Nelson quickly to his corner. It was an even round.

Scuffle Around Ropes.

Round 5—They went into a clinch and broke without striking. Corbett jumped in with left on face and clinched. Corbett swung left hard on cheek. They scuffled around the ropes. Corbett put in three lefts on stomach, then missed right swing. Nelson landed right hard on ear. Corbett was there with right on ribs. Nelson countered on chin with right. Corbett reached the body with some heavy right-handers. Nelson put in some hard right-hand body punches and backed Corbett to the ropes with left and right facers, Corbett's mouth bleeding. He seemed to be hurt. Nelson kept reaching him with left hooks on face. Corbett got in his favorite punch—a full swing right on jaw—but it did not faze Nelson. The Dane had a strong lead as the gong sounded.

Corbett Backed Into Corner.

Round 6—Nelson rushed Corbett to corner; Corbett covered up and broke away. Nelson pressed Corbett around ring and in a clinch forced him to his knees. Corbett swung left on eye and left to ribs. Corbett put in another right on ribs. Nelson forced him to ropes and got home left and right on face. Corbett swung left on jaw and put in right over heart. His blows seemed to be losing steam. Nelson was cool and watchful and got in jarring left-handers on face. He carried Corbett to ropes with right to body and then smashed him on the face, Corbett striking back, but he did not seem to be hurting his opponent. Nelson was beating Corbett along ropes when the round ended.

Denver Boy Hammered in Face.

Round 7—Corbett was trying to get at close quarters. Nelson hooked with both hands. Nelson kept his left arm half extended and shot in hard face blows, which only traveled a few inches. He varied this with rasping right hooks on the stomach. Corbett backed around the ropes, with Nelson pressing him. Nelson pinned him against the ropes and hammered him around the face and ribs with both hands. Corbett was hitting wild, but when he did land the blows lacked power. Nelson kept after him, hooking and jabbing with both hands. Nelson pinned him against the ropes again and sent in blow after blow on the face. Corbett's mouth was bleeding and he was gasping for breath as he went to his corner.

Complains of Butting.

Round 8—Corbett missed left swing and then they went close and mixed it. Corbett began using right uppercut. Nelson folded his glove under his chin so as to catch the blows. Corbett lifted a dozen times, but did not get through Nelson's guard. Nelson then straightened up and fought back, hooking Corbett with lefts and rights. Corbett complained he had been butted. Nelson kept on fighting, using lefts and rights on face. Corbett tried to clinch. Nelson shouldered him away and resumed uppercutting. Corbett was hampered unmercifully, but he spread his legs and kept his feet. Nelson had him against the ropes pummeling him with both hands at the gong. So far as condition was concerned, Nelson was as fresh as when he started. Corbett was badly hammered.

Right on Jaw Does It.

Round 9—Nelson forced Corbett to ropes and hooked and hooked. Corbett got out of a tight place and danced around the ring. He jumped at Nelson, reaching the face with lefts. Nelson, however, kept after him and soon had him on the ropes again. Corbett dodged to mid-ring and used straight left three or four times. He also got in a short right uppercut three times and brought blood from Nelson's nose. Nelson kept right after him, using lefts and rights. He knocked him down with a right-hander. Corbett fell on his back. He rolled over on his face and quickly gained his feet. Nelson rushed him to ropes, hammering him with both hands. A hard right on the jaw sent Corbett to the floor again. When the timekeeper had counted six Spider Kelly threw up the sponge and the beaten man was lifted and carried to his corner.

Conner, 214 E. 14th St., New York City: "My baby boy Charles was troubled for more than four months with worms before I knew what ailed him. He was restless and pale, his eyes were dull and he grew thinner day by day, yet he had a large appetite; in fact he wanted to eat all the time, but he did not grow fleshy. My sister said she believed that Kickapoo Worm Killer would help him as it had helped a child in the house where she had boarded. So I bought it and watched results. ## BARGAINS IN CLUNY

"World's Fair Lacemaker" Lets Women in on a Good Thing.

GOING BACK TO SCOTLAND

Purchasers Discover That Cotton Torchon is Panned Off On Them.

A large number of Davenport ladies, scores of them, probably, are just learning that they have been made the victims of one of the cleverest swindles that was ever worked in this locality.

Some days ago a woman with a broad Scotch accent appeared at a flat building near Third street, and let the people there in on a secret. She was one of the lace makers from the St. Louis exposition, she said, and they were making their way back to Scotland by selling the fine hand-made cluny lace, which they had made at the fair and which they were selling for a song. She was going to be in town two or three weeks, and the Petersen's had hired her to teach one of their young ladies how to make it. She couldn't remember the name. Was it Freda Mehl? Yes, that was the name. She had some of the lace with her, and if anyone wanted it—

Did They Want It?

The people in the flat were very warm in their emulation to see which should get the most of that cluny lace. Lots from $4 to $15 went about as fast as the woman could tear them off, and those who were happiest about it remembered their friends and telephoned to them about the snap, with the result that they were soon let in on it, from the apparently inexhaustible supply that the woman had on hand.

All of them had to be very conscientious to avoid taking advantage of the guileless maker. She was remarkably ignorant of American ways, and never computed in dollars. Long accustomed to figure by "bits" in the old country, she talked in quarters.

"It's a shame to take the lace," was the way the ladies felt who got in on the snap.

Call in Their Friends.

Well, in the last few days scores of them have had an opportunity to get in on it. If it wasn't in their way their friends helped them.

One young lady, who is looking forward to marriage in a few weeks was real unhappy, under the circumstances, because she hadn't enough ready money to buy enough cluny lace to trim her white tulle. She invested $4 or $5, all the ready change she had, and has a fine bundle of it away.

Breaks News to Them.

But one or two of the purchasers got

Who Feel Tired and Fail to Get Refreshed by Sleep, Are on the Verge of a Serious Train of Diseases.

At first there will be a great languor, especially in the morning, faintness, dizziness, weakness or sinking at the pit of the stomach; the appetite will be variable, digestion impaired; palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, cold hands and feet, headache, paleness, dark circles under the eyes, and a dragging pain across the hips and loins. The blood becomes thin and watery, and the nerves lacking in strength, the complexion sallow, the cheeks sunken, the bust flattened and reduced, the memory poor, the mind weakened, the disposition irritable and nervous, the least noise often producing complete nervous prostration. By feeding the blood and nerves with Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food, the weak parts are made strong, the weight increased, the sunken cheeks and flattened bust fill out and become firm and plump; the enriched blood makes the complexion clear, the lips red, the eyes bright, and gives new life, strength and animation to the system. ## COUNTRY ROADS VERY BAD

Frost Nearly Out And Vehicles Sink to Hubs in Mud.

Those who have occasion to travel over country roads nowadays marvel at the rapidity with which the frost has gone out of the ground. At places the highways are already almost impassable, particularly in the lowlands, vehicles sinking nearly to the hubs. It seems that the snow in melting has drawn the frost from the soil to a large extent and a few more days of warm weather will have it completely out in many localities.
